and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

The month with many weeks in it has arrived again . . . This week in October is B&PW Club Week and Fire Prevention Week while next week is National Newspaper Week and Screwworm Eradication Week, among many other designations.

Since this is National Business and Professional Women's Week it would be a good time to stop and think about all of the many accomplishments made here in Hamlin by this group of women. Without the working woman this town and nation would not have many of the better things it enjoys today.

Not only do the working women contribute much to the business affairs of Hamlin, but they also take a very active part in the civic needs of the community.

Towns such as Hamlin should make a little extra effort to recognize Fire Prevention Week by paying tribute to our all-volunteer Fire Department. Towns that hire their firemen owe these often underpaid men a great deal of gratitude and by the same token we owe our volunteers much more.

The thing that has always bothered me is that with the present system it is necessary for all of the volunteers to drop whatever they are doing and go to a fire that one or two men could have handled.

Unless you go into a paid department I don't know of any way to prevent this though. It may be that some study should be given to the thought of looking into the savings that could be gained on insurance premiums with a full time force. If this money could be converted into tax money and put with the money now spent on the three men who answer the police and fire calls it might be that the citizens could have better protection for the same amount of money.

A few weeks ago the Federal Land Bank serving this area sent out a news release announcing the resignation of Joe Breed as assistant manager of the association and manager of the Jones County office in Anson.

It seems that some people thought that the Anson office would be closed and that they would have to work through the Haskell office. This is not the case—the office will be supervised by Joe Harper, association manager, of Haskell but the office in Anson will remain open full time.

Gresham is an accountant in Graham and is a member and past president of the Rotary Club there. He was elected a district governor for 1962-63 at Rotary's 53rd annual convention in Los Angeles, California last June. He is one of 271 district governors responsible for supervising the activities of more than 11,200 Rotary clubs with a total membership of 524,000 Rotarians in 128 countries around the globe.

He has broad experience in Rotary and is well qualified to assist club officers in solving whatever problems they may have and in organizing an effective program for achieving Rotary goals in community betterment, raising the standards of business and professions, and in furthering international understanding."

As a Rotary governor, Gresham is serving on a global team headed by Nitish C. Laharry, of Calcutta, India, president of Rotary International.

CHIEF TELLS WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF FIRE IN HOME

Fire Chief C. L. White reminded parents of the importance of preparing their household to know what to do in case of fire. He asks, "Would your family know what to do if fire should strike your home tonight?"

"If you can't answer affirmatively, you should immediately call a family conference to work out a fire escape plan," the chief continued.

The first two things you should do are: (1) get everybody out of the house quickly; and (2) call the fire department. In most homes, this should take less than a minute. However, if the fire has gained headway, getting out of the house could be the most important single act in saving your life or that of your family.

First and foremost, everyone in your family, from small children to elderly people, should know alternate means of escape from the home. Be sure bedroom windows are not jammed or stuck by paint or

Mrs. Patterson Holds Lead In Sub Contest

Mrs. LaFoy Patterson maintained a narrow lead entering the third week of the Herald's big "Good Will" circulation contest.

But Friday night marks the close of the most important week in the contest, and several other contestants are closing in rapidly. Tomorrow night terminates the maximum schedule of votes on subscriptions.

So the individual results obtained this week will have a tremendous influence on the final outcome of the contest, according to Contest Manager, Mrs. Mittle McBeath.

After this Friday night and during the next two weeks, the "second period" schedule of votes will be in effect, which means a reduction in the voting value of all subscriptions—both large and small," she said.

"Contestants are now seething with the bustle of preparation for one grand round-up of all their friends and acquaintances for subscriptions and winning votes.

"And they're fighting feverishly toward the finish line," she said.

Each is anxious to gather in all subscriptions possible by Friday night while they still earn the maximum amount of votes."

As the clock ticks away the golden hours between now and Friday night, contestants who take full advantage of the opportunity this period affords—and who utilize every minute—certainly will be among those who qualify for the huge cash prizes and weekly merchandise awards.

A rash of subscriptions, either new or renewals, right now might be the very ones which would clinch the $750 grand prize.

In addressing friends of the contestants, Mrs. McBeath said they "no doubt have encouraged your favorite contestant in a small way, but have you extended yourself to the full limit?"

NEINDA PHILOSOPHER COMES OUT IN FAVOR OF PRIMITIVE FARMING AND ALSO FOR PRIMITIVE WARFARE

Editor's note: The Neinda philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on route one depends his farming methods in this letter this week.

A lot of people think if something isn't modern it isn't any good, and if you want to run down a farmer, for example, all you have to do is say he hasn't got his farming up on the modern level. That's supposed to bowl him over.

Well, I'll tell you, I haven't got anything against modern farming, it seems to work for some of my neighbors, they can swing as good a loan at bank as anybody, but I was reading an article last night about farming in backward areas of the world by a university professor who is just back from a long tour and he said primitive farming has its points.

"They're still using the farming methods they've been using for more than 10,000 years," he said, "and while nobody gets rich, it clothes and feeds more than half the people of the world."

Also, there's another point about primitive farming - he overlooked. When the United States was farmed by primitive methods, the farm population out-numbered the city population by three to one. Now with modern methods, city people out-number the farmers nine to one.

You can see what this has done to the farm vote. The more modern farmers get, the less voice they have. They've modernized themselves into helplessness.

Or take primitive war. Every nation on earth is now spending all it can to get hold of to modernize war, but there's a whole lot to be said for the old-fashioned way. I'll admit a guided missile has more tail fins on it than a bow and arrow, it's speedier, trimmer, employs more people to operate it, drains off more tax dollars, and overall is more stylish and modern, but there's a whole lot to be said for a bow and arrow. If that's all Khrushchev had, it sure would solve the Russian problem, and I doubt if Congress would be passing resolutions against the shipment of tommyhawks to Cuba.

Don't run down the primitive farmer. He may hold the world's future in his hands. Even survival shelter ought to contain a good wooden pull and a strong woman to pull it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Public Urged Not To Drive Under Drug Influence

Drugs which relieve nasal congestion and combat allergies can contribute to traffic accidents, the Texas Safety Association warned today.

"It all depends on how these drugs affect the driver," TSA General Manager J. O. Musick said.

He explained that while relieving physical discomfort, such drugs may cause side effects such as inattention, confusion and drowsiness.

Musick emphasized that all persons do not experience side effects, but that those who do certainly should not be driving a motor vehicle.

"A motorist driving under the influence of such drugs can be as genuine a threat in traffic as a person driving under the influence of alcohol," he explained.

Musick labeled the combination of drugs and alcohol in traffic "double-suicide."

The safety director noted that as the pollen count increases during the fall and people seek relief from the "sniffles," there will be more danger of accidents from the side effects of drugs.

He urged motorists under the care of a physician to heed his advice about driving while taking drugs and advised those persons making across-the-country purchases of drugs to take note of warnings on labels concerning side effects.

"If a drug produces side effects, do not drive a motor vehicle—the life you save may be your own," he concluded.

Removing the THORN

Almost everyone that has ever removed a shoe and run barefoot through the fields, knows of the wonderful feeling of freedom that this gives. Most, also have known what it is to remove a sticker or a thorn. The first attempts to pull it out are usually handled so gingerly and slowly, and then, screwing up your courage you yank it out, and find that this was the easiest way after all.

There are many thorns in life, and these evils should be removed swiftly, and put out of our lives. Attend Church, receive help and encouragement in removing the thorns from your life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

FAIRVIEW NEWS

By MRS. ELMER JOINER

We have talked of pests of different kinds for some weeks now and the past week another kind of "pest" invaded our community. About the middle of the week a government man working for the child labor law division, swooped down on many fields and caught children under 16 years of age working. For the first offenders only a warning is issued, but for those caught before, we don't know, and many are just wondering what the outcome will be. After all of the insects have taken their share, along with the dry weather, if the farmers have to pay a fine for children being carried to the fields by their parents, it looks like they had all just as well quit and get on welfare too.

Another kind of pest invaded the hen house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Flavil Holmes last Wednesday, while they were away for a short time. Upon returning home Mrs. Holmes found all of her hens but three had been killed by dogs, or so she presumed, as the stray dog came back after she returned. Upon investigation it was found that there are two abandoned dogs roaming the community in search of food, so it will be a good idea to be on the look out for them if any one has any chickens, if some one hasn't had pity on them and ended their outlaw career.

Attendance was up a little at Sunday School and church Sunday. Attending Sunday School with Melinda Wright were Ginger and Sherri Rosario, little friends from Hamlin. The little girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rosario, attended preaching services. Mr. Rosario is employed at the Chevrolet House in Hamlin, a fellow worker of Jack Wright's.

Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Lewis, parents of the pastor, and his aunt, Mrs. Susie Shelton, Abilene.

Mr. Melvin Ellis, a business associate of the pastor, was a Wednesday night visitor at the services. Mr. Ellis is employed at Lubbock, by the same company Rev. Lewis works for, the Donald Crisp Wholesale Lumber Co.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Mrs. E. A. Henry's nephew, a resident of Vernon, and a victim of cancer. Mr. and Mrs. Henry attended the funeral services.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Goodwin and Linda, went to Swenson Saturday night to visit the Rev. Doyle C. Mims family.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Gray entertained all of their children and grandchildren last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyal Bills, and Jana, Houston, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Bruce and Bryan, Amarillo were the visiting children, with Dorothy of the home, making the family complete.

Visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Flavil Holmes Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clements and daughters, of Abilene. The pastor, Rev. Derrel Lewis, performed his first marriage ceremony Friday night when he read the rites for a niece, Miss Christine Boren was united in marriage to Richard Green in the Trinity Baptist Church in Stamford.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Jones visited a while Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rosenbaum, then they all went to Stamford to see Mr. Newman Jones. Mr. Jones has been ill over a year, and is reported to be feeling not so good recently.

Elmer Joiner visited with Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ray, of Anson, last Thursday night, the men going to the Anson Hospital to visit with I. B. Ray, who is in the hospital.

Mrs. Joiner attended a meeting at the agents office in Anson, Thursday night. It was a county wide program planning meeting of both agents, and the men and women working in the Extension work, including the 4-H clubs and Home Demonstration Clubs. Visitors from India and Kenya Africa, agricultural workers from their countries, in the United States learning the methods of work done here, to take back to their homes. They will be in Jones County this week and will attend various meetings with Mr. Clayton and Mrs. Newberry.

It has been learned that Mrs. E. Kirksey, the former Anna Mae Ray, reared in our community, has had another operation on her back in Fort Worth. Mrs. Kirksey had an operation several years ago, but this time a double fusion on two vertebrae of her spine. She is a resident of Throckmorton and at last reports was improving, after having been in a serious condition several days.

When asked if she had any news Mrs. Jack Wright replied that she had company last Wednesday night. And company she did have, about 48 of them, surprised them with a combination house warming and pink and blue shower. All came to prayer service then announced that they would go home with them for coffee. After the shock wore off, Jack and Joan enjoyed the party and especially the large number of gifts showered on them.

This makes two Wednesday nights that families have been surprised, come meet with us, you might be next.

This reporter is still in the Herald contest, don't forget all of us working in it.

Office Commended For the Sale of Saving Stamps

Postmaster P. H. Sparks said today he had received a letter from William H. Neal, National Director of the U. S. Savings Bond program, commending the local post office for its efforts in the promotion and sale of U. S. Savings Stamps.

"You and your associates have helped to make the Treasury's school Savings Program the success it is today," Mr. Neal wrote. "It is regarded as a most important instrument in teaching citizenship and thrift."

"Now as another new school year opens, you will again have the opportunity of contributing to this important means of thrift education. I personally believe that a part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds."

"On behalf of the Treasury Department, may I express sincere appreciation and ask for your continued active cooperation. Through the sale of U. S. Savings Stamps you will offer a convenient service to schools, and to the public in general."

AUSTIN — With 12 indictments already returned in the East Texas slant-hole investigation, there are strong side-currents growing out of the East Texas scandals.

Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger and his fellow House investigators sent a preliminary report to Speaker James A. Turman and Gov. Price Daniel. They urged "immediate action" on eight changes in or additions to the criminal laws.

They also proposed that a procedure be set up to replace state officials who become ill and unable to handle their duties. This obviously is a reference to Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson who has been ill at his home in Amarillo for several months.

A major policy change would be revision of the old "marginal well law" which could be very important to many Texans, particularly in old oil areas.

Present law says that if an oil well cannot make as much as 20 barrels a day, it is a marginal well which must be exempt from shutdown days. Thus, a well producing 19 barrels a day will get an allowable of 570 barrels a month. But a well capable of making 1,000 barrels a day will be held to 160 barrels a month—20 barrels a day times eight producing days.

Committee recommended that the marginal wells be held to the same monthly allowable as a non-marginal well in the same field.

Gov. Daniel has been non-committal on the possibility of calling a special session of the Legislature to act on this and other current problem areas.

COMMISSION SHAKEUP — Texas Railroad Commission is under a reorganization study by the Texas Research League. Already changes in procedures are being put into effect.

Commissioners William J. Murray Jr. and Ben Ramsey named a committee of oilmen headed by James E. Russell of Abilene to advise on revision of rules and procedures which most admit had become too cumbersome and slow.

PADRE AND MADRE — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler continues his battle against creation of the Padre Island National Seashore.

He has charged that oilmen bidding on state school leases in Laguna Madre did not make big cash bonus offers to the state because of passage of the Padre Island bill.

Sadler intends to oppose legislation to authorize sales of state land in Laguna Madre to the U. S. for the recreation area.

He has hired Captain William C. Russell of Fort Worth, recently retired as director of the Southwest Division of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, to survey the area along the Gulf.

Although the so-called "tidelands" law was passed in 1953, there has not been a settlement between Texas and the U. S. as to where the exact boundary lies. Russell, whose life work has been incoastal surveying, will undertake that chore.

It is made doubly hard because the line is supposed to be three marine leagues off the shore, as it was in 1848 when Texas entered the union. The shoreline has changed considerably in the intervening years.

BUSINESS PEAKS UP — Texas business activity rose seven per cent in August over July. And eight per cent above that of August, 1961.

Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas found this rosier picture in August, after two bad months of decline.

Sheffield recently paid back the Veterans Land Board, with interest, the money he received for the land.

LOST PARK — Back in 1933, Joe Espy of Fort Davis gave the state 169 acres in the Davis Mountains, with a provision that if it were not developed for public recreation he would get it back.

The state failed to develop the land, so Espy sued to get it back.

Trial court held that he was entitled to the land, and ordered it returned. The State Parks Board is appealing.

Espy said he would give it to the Parks Board again . . . if the Board will develop it as a park.

OLD BADGES — Texas Rangers have gone back to the old days and old ways.

Old-time Rangers carved their own badges out of Mexican pesos. It was a star within a circle.

A fancy new-styled badge was adopted in 1936 when Rangers were put under the Department of Public Safety.

Now they are going back to the old-type badge. But they won't carve their own. All 62 Rangers were issued shiny new ones, ready-made.

Lubbock to Host Foursquare Meet

Rev. Spencer Liles, pastor of Hamlin Foursquare Church, 133 S. W. "D" St., says the annual four-day convention of the denomination's more than 65 churches, located in 17 states of the south central district, is slated to open Oct. 15 in Calvary Temple Foursquare Church, Lubbock, under the direction of the Rev. J. Craig Bigg, Dallas, district supervisor.

The local pastor disclosed that guest speakers for the convocation include Dr. Vincent R. Bird, international director of Foursquare youth and Christian education; the Rev. Milton W. Ellithorpe, staff evangelist at Angelus Temple, Los Angeles, mother church of the movement, and the Rev. and Mrs. Jack L. Richey, missionaries on furlough from the Philippine Islands.

He says "Hasten the Harvest" is the theme around which the parley for pastors is being programmed with panels, Mr. Liles added that the south central churches gave $32,149.12 to the denomination's 1961 mission program, and he expects that total to be exceeded in 1962.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cook are parents of a son, Johniton Kay Cook, born Oct. 10 weighing 8 lbs. 13 oz. The Grandmothers are Mrs. Gillie Washington and Mrs. Ada Sadler, both of San Angelo.

COLUMN

tirement, disability and death plan.

No person may qualify for benefits, whether employed by a county or another political subdivision, unless he has served as that political unit for at least twelve years. This is a new provision and would not affect persons who have qualified in counties prior to the adoption of the amendment.

At the present time the Constitution says that amounts paid by the county shall equal the amount contributed by each employee and that the contribution of any person shall not exceed 5% of his compensation or $180, whichever is less. The proposed amendment eliminates the $180 limit, which is 5% of $3,600, and would allow the assessment of 5% against an employee's full salary. Whether these provisions are intended to be restricted to the "county" or whether the Legislature intended that they should apply to "any other political subdivision" could be argued either way. If the Legislature sees fit to pass adequate regulatory legislation covering all other political subdivisions, as it is authorized to do, this problem could be solved.

The second paragraph of Section (b) of Section 62 would be eliminated. This paragraph controls how money in the fund shall be invested, and requires that a sufficient amount be kept on hand for immediate payment of what may become due each year out of the fund. Also lost by elimination of this section would be the requirement that those who receive benefits from a retirement fund shall not be eligible for any other pension, retirement fund or direct aid from the State of Texas unless the county re-assesses the fund to the State of Texas as a condition of receiving other pension aid.

The Legislature may enact appropriate laws regulating retirement, disability and death compensation funds. However, the language of the proposed amendment, by its terms, gives every political subdivision of the State the unqualified "right" to provide for such a fund, thus stripping the Legislature of all power or authority to limit its application to those political subdivisions where it would be practical, wise and workable.

Those favoring House Joint Resolution 36 believe it will offer strong incentive for good employees to remain on their jobs and get advancement through meritorious performance of their jobs. They think cost of such retirement systems will be returned many times over in a better and more satisfied personnel.

Those who have doubts about the proposed amendment question whether it is wise to pay pensions to elective officials. They are disturbed by provisions that could be interpreted as allowing political subdivisions other than the county to operate without any limitation on the amount or ratio of contributions. They question also whether it is wise to eliminate entirely all constitutional restrictions on investment and management of retirement programs.

PROPOSITION 8 ASSISTANCE TO TOTALLY AND PERMANENTLY DISABLED PERSONS

Proposition 8 (Senate Joint Resolution No. 7) would amend Section 51-b of Article III of our Constitution to increase the amount of money which the Legislature may appropriate for the needy persons who are totally and permanently disabled by reason of mental or physical handicaps. The amendment proposes an increase from the present $1,500,000 to $2,500,000 payable out of State funds.

This program of aid was adopted in 1958. It is restricted to people who physical or mental handicaps are such that rehabilitation is not feasible. It applies to those who have passed their eighteenth birthday but have not passed their sixty-fifth. Not more than $20 a month out of State funds may be paid to any individual recipient and the amount paid from the State funds to any individual may never exceed the amount paid to that individual out of federal funds.

Help is available to disabled persons in various forms both public and private sources. The federal program of Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance also covers permanently and totally disabled persons in the same age groups. It is expected to relieve demands for State aid as more people in Texas are covered by Social Security, but there will always be some who do not have sufficient earnings (or whose earnings were not reported) to qualify under it.

Although the program is intended to include only those for whom rehabilitation is not feasible, as a practical matter Workmen's Compensation for employees disabled in the course of their employment reduces demands on both these programs. Other federal-state and hundreds of private programs seek to rehabilitate people to complete or partial self-sufficiency. Where this is not possible training can sometimes make them capable of rough self-help to release another member of the family for employment. A substantial percent of those who become mentally disabled who might better be sent to State hospitals or school. Although the facilities now available are not sufficient to take care of growing demands on the hospitals and special schools systems, these might be more pertinent to the needs of the mentally disabled than payment of money to them. From a money standpoint, however, it is sometimes less costly to assist handicapped people at home than it would be to take care of them in State hospitals.

Another federal-state program (Kerr-Mills) adopted in 1958 authorizes substantial amounts of money for State payments to doctors or to hospitals and nursing homes, not otherwise State supported, for services to needy disabled persons. Often these are their greatest need.

The Legislature has not provided the money for this Kerr-Mills care of the totally and permanently disabled person but it has authority to do so and there is no limit on the amount which may be expended except that it may not exceed matching federal funds. To provide State funds would require some change in the law affecting medical payments but failure of the Legislature to act emphasizes the fact that voting a constitutional amendment does not automatically provide money. The State's financial problems have been so great as to prevent the Legislature from implementing a medical assistance program for permanently and totally disabled needy persons.

As of March, 1962, there were 7,598 recipients. Under the strict State law now in effect rolls are increasing about 700 to 800 per year. The growth is the main argument for the increase in State funds provided by this amendment.

The average amount received by those who are on the rolls rank well with the average now paid nationally. Texas ranks thirty-first among the states in the average amount paid to recipients, which is slightly better than its rank of thirty-second in average per capita income. The $53.96 per recipient paid in March was 95.6% of the national average (not including Kerr-Mills payment) Per capita income in Texas is 87 percent of the national average. This fact indicates statistically that Texas citizens are making a greater than average effort for those on the rolls because of total and permanent mental or physical disability, and its program results in a higher rate of assistance to these people in proportion to its average citizen's income.

In October this year recipients of aid to totally and permanently disabled will receive an increase of $4 per month across the board, increasing the maximum from $65 to $69. This is possible because the Public Welfare Amendments of 1962 law, passed by Congress in June, makes more federal money available for this program.

Proponents of this amendment point to the substantial number of people on the rolls in a new program and the need of many others who are not receiving assistance. They suggest that appropriation of another $1,000,000 a year is a modest attempt to solve the problems of the disabled.

However, there are other people who question when this is the proper solution. They feel that voting more money for a direct dole to needy disabled persons, instead of being the real answer to their trouble may postpone development of the programs which could prove most helpful. They suggest that the most helpful results may be found in training, in State hospitals, nursing home care or medical assistance, for which money can be appropriated without further amendment.
